In internet used vehicles certified from Iveco Irisbus

A new service for selling second-hand city and tourism busses is now added to the on-line sales system introduced by Iveco at the beginning of 2007 with www.iveco-used.com for displaying the second-hand trucks available at all European dealers (tractors, pick-ups and vans).

In fact, a new Internet site: www.irisbus-used.com is now live. Customers can visit a virtual show-room with a wide range of the city and tourism busses from Irisbus, the Iveco company specialised in passenger transport.

Updated on a daily basis, the website contains all the vehicles available in the Iveco Irisbus' four second-hand sites located in France, Italy and Germany. The site allows making a quick search with simple criteria: for example, vehicle brand, registration year, number of seats and anti-pollution level. For a finer research, other criteria are proposed: average vehicle mileage, registration country, main equipment (air conditioning, double glazing, video, refrigerator, toilette cabin...).

Each vehicle selected and carefully checked by the Irisbus technicians is presented in the form of a printable sheet containing all main technical characteristics, with photos. With just a click, you can contact directly the sales staff in charge of the vehicle.

Iveco

Iveco designs, manufactures, and markets a broad range of light, medium and heavy commercial vehicles, off-road trucks, city and intercity buses and coaches as well as special vehicles for applications such as fire fighting, off-road missions, defence and civil protection.
