

Iconic IVECO eDaily wins coveted “Sustainable Truck of the Year 2024” Award

Turin, 1st February 2024

The eDaily was crowned Sustainable Truck of the Year 2024 for its sustainability and proven iconic stature.

The eDaily was selected because it represents a model of urban transportation, a sector where the Daily is a true and recognized benchmark, and where the eDaily is a candidate to be the front runner in the light commercial vehicle segment – a role it deserves for not only for its history, but also for the features of the range’s new generation: sustainability, its primary focus, together with safety, connectivity, versatility and robustness are factors capable of making a difference.

The Sustainable Truck of the Year title, established in 2016 by the Italian trade magazine Vado e Torno, is awarded annually by an independent jury of industry journalists. The jury panel’s choices are based on the criteria of sustainability and efficiency, understood as the reduction of pollutant emissions, and the ability to ensure safety, improve driving comfort and reduce the impact on the population. Jurors carefully evaluated 40 technical parameters organized in macro-areas such as engine, safety, comfort, connectivity and sustainability.

The new eDaily raises the bar on perceived and real quality even higher. It introduces new features that further improve efficiency and performance. The innovative modular battery technology that increases the driving range to 400 kilometers in the urban cycle is a strong point of the eDaily, which makes it particularly attractive to professional customers. The new version can now be configured with a fourth battery in chassis cab models with a wheelbase of 5,100 mm and Gross Vehicle Weight of 7.2 tons. Also new are the ePTO capabilities now extended to 50 kW, which enable zero emissions in the most demanding missions; availability of the Air-Pro adaptive pneumatic suspension; and the same new 10.25-inch Full TFT configurable digital instrument cluster and 10-inch multimedia screen featured in the entire Daily family.
